DETAILED ACTION

1. This application is a national stage entry (371) of PCT/IB03/04240, filed on September 29, 2003.

2. Claims 1-5 are currently pending, with claims 2-4 withdrawn from further consideration due to a previous restriction requirement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1 & 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Williams (US 4,953,122).

In regard to claim 1, Williams discloses a method for operating a drive (Figure 1, element 10) to record information on a recording medium of the write once type (abstract, line 1: “write-once”), wherein the method is adapted to enable apparent random recording and apparent random overwriting (title: “pseudo-erasable and rewritable”) on said recording medium of the write once type to a host (12) coupled to the drive, said method comprising the steps of: receiving from the host a request for storing the information (Figure 4, step 111: “receive write command”) at a requested storing location (“disk physical segment addr.” in column 8, Table I) in a first area on said recording medium; checking whether the requested storing location is still unwritten (Figure 4, step 112: “locate next unwritten physical segment not flawed”, i.e., each segment is checked in sequence until an unwritten segment is found); writing the information to the requested storing location in the first area when the requested storing location is still unwritten (Figure 4, step 113: “write host data and logical address to data storage element”), or writing the information to a free storing location in a second area on said recording medium when the requested storing location is written (column 8, lines 44-56: “Where the flaw map indicates that a given physical segment is flawed, the controller 14, via flaw map memory 27, described in greater detail below, will skip the flawed segments. Thus, as seen in Table I, the data storage segments at physical address 103 and 104 are skipped by controller 14 since flaw map 27 indicates that these segments are flawed”); and updating a table administrating the relation between the requested storing location and the actual location, in the first area or the second area on said recording medium, in which the information is written (column 5, lines 21-29; column 7, lines 38-53).

Claim 5 has similar limitations as claim 1; therefore, it is rejected on the same grounds.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on July 14, 2008 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
